

CCBKA Spring Lectures

9th and 10th March 2019

Featuring Mike Palmer and John O Dohohue

ALL WELCOME TO ATTEND

The Cork County Beekeepers Association (CCBKA) have invited Mike Palmer and John O Dohohue to give a series of lectures on Saturday and Sunday the 9th and 10th of March 2019 at University College Cork with two lectures on Saturday morning with lunch at one o'clock followed by two lectures Saturday afternoon.

Sunday morning there will be two lectures to conclude the weekend.

Mike Palmer is a bee farmer in America with vast experience and will have a range of topics to speak on. John O Dohohue is a very well respected Irish beekeeper, lecturer and honey judge. The weekend is intended to give beekeepers an opportunity to listen to the practical experience of both speakers and will include a coffee break between speakers and lunch on Saturday.

Cork county beekeepers would like everyone with an interest in beekeeping to attend as we would like the opportunity to meet beekeepers from all parts of the country.

Tickets are available in advance and to encourage you to attend CCBKA are offering a subsidised rate of only €60 (including lunch).

To book online go to: <http://cocorkbka.org/events>

Or phone Richard Callanan, CCBKA Treasurer: 087 8278184

Select bee keeping equipment of suppliers will be there too so you can stock up for the season.

See you there!
